

2016 Year in Review

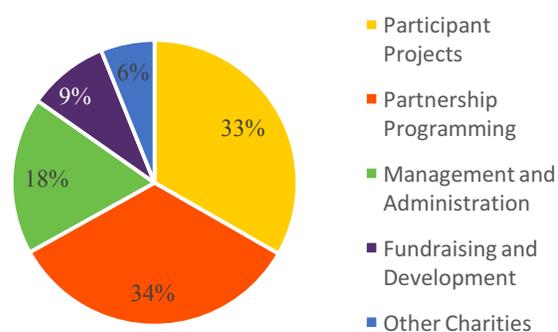

A brief year end look at the impact we had during 2016.

“Thank you for your assistance, patience, love towards Paraguay and it’s people. Thank you as well for the people from Canada who were willing to give towards this event to make it possible for more people to attend and to make it a great event.” –Johannes Regier, Jesus Responde

Collaborative partnerships strengthen impact. As we forge forward, we strive to help organizations on the ground with their impact in using sport for community transformation. Leaders are being trained, and children are belonging to movements of sport across Paraguay, and Peru.

» Jesus Responde: In Paraguay Jesus Responde is seeing growth in their impact. As SportAid assisted in running a sport training congress, over 100 community leaders were taught how to use sport to build into children. As a result, there are a total of 75 soccer programs being run throughout Paraguay where 2000 kids are given a place to be fed, play, and belong.

» Communities for Life: Our growing partnership with Communities for Life saw 150 kids engaged in a first ever 3-day soccer camp in a remote city of Manchay. After talking to several community leaders we are excited for this next year as we strategize on how an after-school sport academy will provide a place of growth for vulnerable children in addition to programs for adults to learn how to grow crops in a place that has limited potable water and low arable land.

Projects

In 2016 we took a small group of 6 athletes to Paraguay and Peru to assist the work of our partners in their communities. With their presence, we built 1 home, 2 classrooms, helped run a sport congress for over 100 people, ran community soccer tournament which involved 80 kids in Paraguay and a 3 day training camp for 150 children in Peru!

Each of these events serves as a catalyst for local outreaches where the credibility of those in these communities is strengthened and more people are engaged.
